Last Updated: 29 September 2026

Welcome to MecQP.

MecQP ("MecQP", "we", "us", or "our") is an independent student-created website intended to provide students with access to previous-year question papers and to allow users to submit question papers for review and possible inclusion in the repository.

By accessing or using MecQP, you agree to comply with these Terms of Service ("Terms"). If you do not agree with these Terms, please do not use the website.

1. About MecQP

MecQP is an independent student project.

MecQP is not an official website, service, or publication of:

- Government Model Engineering College;
- APJ Abdul Kalam Technological University (KTU); or
- any other educational institution,

unless expressly stated otherwise.

The availability of question papers on MecQP does not constitute an endorsement by any educational institution.

2. Eligibility and Responsible Use

You may use MecQP only for lawful purposes and in accordance with these Terms.

You agree not to:

- interfere with the operation or security of MecQP;
- attempt to gain unauthorized access to administrative areas or systems;
- circumvent security controls;
- abuse or intentionally overload the website;
- submit malicious software or files;
- use the website to distribute unlawful material;
- impersonate another person or organization;
- knowingly provide false or misleading information;
- scrape or automatically access the website in a manner that interferes with its operation;

- attempt to discover, exploit, or disclose security vulnerabilities without authorization; or
- otherwise use MecQP in a way that violates applicable law.

3. Use of Question Papers

Question papers available through MecQP are provided primarily for educational and reference purposes.

Users are responsible for determining whether and how they may use a particular question paper under applicable copyright, intellectual-property, examination, institutional, or other rules.

MecQP does not represent that every question paper is free from third-party intellectual-property rights.

Users should not assume that the availability of a document on MecQP grants permission to reproduce, modify, redistribute, commercially exploit, or otherwise use it beyond what is permitted by applicable law or by the relevant rights holder.

4. Submission of Question Papers

MecQP may allow users to submit previous-year question papers for review.

By submitting a file, you confirm that, to the best of your knowledge:

1. the submission is a genuine question paper from an examination that has actually been conducted;
2. the submission is not a leaked, unreleased, confidential, or unlawfully obtained examination paper;
3. you are not knowingly submitting material obtained through unauthorized means;
4. the file is in PDF format where the submission system requires PDF;
5. the file complies with any size restrictions displayed by MecQP;
6. the submission does not intentionally contain unnecessary personal information;
7. the information supplied with the submission is accurate to the best of your knowledge;
8. the question paper has not been intentionally fabricated, manipulated, or materially altered;
9. the submission is relevant to the purpose of MecQP;
10. the submission is not knowingly a duplicate of material already available on MecQP, unless submitting it is necessary to provide a clearer or more complete version;
11. you have the right or lawful basis to submit the material; and
12. the submission does not knowingly infringe another person's copyright, privacy, intellectual-property rights, or other legal rights.

5. Personal Information in Uploaded Files

Users must not upload question papers containing unnecessary personal information, including:

- student names;
- roll numbers;
- phone numbers;
- email addresses;
- signatures;
- photographs;
- addresses; or
- other personal information identifying students or other individuals.

If personal information is present in a scan, users should take appropriate steps to remove or redact it before submission where possible.

MecQP may reject, restrict, redact, remove, or otherwise handle a submission if it contains personal information or creates a privacy concern.

6. No Leaked or Unauthorized Examination Material

MecQP does not permit users to submit leaked, unreleased, confidential, or unlawfully obtained examination papers.

Only question papers from examinations that have actually been conducted should be submitted.

A user must not submit material merely because they have obtained it before an examination or through an unauthorized source.

MecQP may reject or remove material where it reasonably believes that the material may be leaked, unreleased, unauthorized, fabricated, manipulated, or otherwise inappropriate for publication.

7. Submission Review

Submitting a question paper does not guarantee that it will be published.

All submissions may be reviewed by the MecQP administrator.

MecQP may accept or reject a submission for reasons including, but not limited to:

- violation of these Terms;
- privacy concerns;
- copyright or other legal concerns;
- insufficient or inaccurate information;
- poor or incomplete scans;
- corrupted or unreadable files;

- duplicate material;
- material that was not officially conducted;
- leaked or unauthorized material;
- manipulated or fabricated material;
- malicious or suspicious files;
- material unrelated to MecQP; or
- any other reasonable concern regarding authenticity, legality, safety, or suitability.

MecQP may also remove previously published material if a concern arises after publication.

8. Uploaded Content and Rights

By submitting material to MecQP, you do not automatically transfer ownership of that material to MecQP.

You represent that you have the necessary rights, permission, or lawful basis to submit the material.

To the extent necessary for MecQP to operate the repository, review submissions, store files, and make accepted material available through the website, you grant MecQP a non-exclusive, royalty-free permission to host, store, reproduce, display, and distribute the submitted material for those purposes, subject to applicable law and any limitations communicated by MecQP.

This permission does not grant MecQP ownership of third-party intellectual property contained in the submitted material.

9. Copyright and Takedown Requests

MecQP respects intellectual-property rights.

If you believe that material hosted on MecQP infringes your copyright or other legal rights, you may contact:

admin@mecqp.com

A useful request should identify:

- the material concerned;
- the location or URL of the material;
- the nature of the claimed right;
- the basis for the request; and
- sufficient information for MecQP to evaluate the request.

MecQP may temporarily restrict access to material while a complaint is reviewed.

MecQP may remove or restrict material where appropriate, including where continued hosting creates a legal, privacy, authenticity, or security concern.

Nothing in this section limits any rights or remedies available under applicable law.

10. Accuracy of Repository Content

MecQP attempts to maintain useful and accurate information, but cannot guarantee that every description, classification, metadata field, or question paper is completely accurate or error-free.

Question papers may contain printing errors, scanning defects, missing pages, annotations, or other imperfections.

Users should exercise appropriate judgment when relying on repository information.

11. Educational Purpose

MecQP is intended as an educational resource.

It is not intended to:

- replace official examination announcements;
- replace official academic materials;
- provide leaked examination material;
- facilitate academic misconduct; or
- guarantee the content of any future examination.

Users remain responsible for complying with the academic and examination rules applicable to them.

12. Website Availability

MecQP is provided on an "as available" basis.

We will make reasonable efforts to keep the website operational, but we do not guarantee uninterrupted availability.

The website may occasionally be unavailable because of:

- maintenance;
- software updates;
- server or network failures;
- security incidents;
- hosting-provider issues;
- domain or DNS issues;
- technical errors;
- circumstances beyond our reasonable control; or
- other causes.

MecQP may modify, suspend, restrict, or discontinue any part of the website where reasonably necessary.

13. Downloads and Files

Users download files from MecQP at their own discretion.

Although MecQP takes reasonable measures to review submitted files and maintain website security, no file-distribution system can guarantee that every file will always be free from defects or malicious content.

Users should maintain appropriate security protections on their own devices.

Users must not attempt to upload files intended to damage, compromise, disrupt, or gain unauthorized access to MecQP or another person's computer system.

14. Security

You must not attempt to:

- bypass authentication;
- access another user's information;
- access the administrator interface without authorization;
- exploit a vulnerability;
- upload malicious code;
- interfere with server resources;
- conduct denial-of-service attacks;
- introduce malware; or
- otherwise compromise the security of MecQP.

Nothing in these Terms authorizes security testing of MecQP.

If you believe you have discovered a security vulnerability, please report it responsibly to:

admin@mecqp.com

Please do not publicly disclose a vulnerability before giving the operator a reasonable opportunity to investigate it.

15. Administrative Action

MecQP may restrict or terminate a user's access to the website or submission functionality where reasonably necessary, including where the user:

- violates these Terms;
- attempts to compromise website security;
- submits prohibited or unlawful material;
- repeatedly submits inappropriate material;

- abuses the website;
- interferes with its operation; or
- creates a reasonable legal, privacy, security, or safety concern.

MecQP may also remove content associated with such activity.

16. Privacy

The collection and processing of information through MecQP is described in the MecQP Privacy Policy.

By using MecQP, you acknowledge that information may be processed in accordance with that Privacy Policy and applicable law.

17. Third-Party Links and Services

MecQP may contain links to external websites or services.

MecQP does not control those external websites and is not responsible for their content, availability, security, privacy practices, or terms.

Users should review the applicable terms and privacy policies of external services before using them.

18. Intellectual Property in MecQP

Unless otherwise stated, the MecQP website's original software, design, text, branding, and other original materials are owned by or used under appropriate permission by the operator.

The availability of third-party question papers on MecQP does not mean that MecQP owns the intellectual property in those papers.

The MecQP name, branding, original website code, and other project materials must not be represented as belonging to another person or organization without permission.

19. Disclaimer of Warranties

To the extent permitted by applicable law, MecQP is provided without warranties of any kind, whether express or implied.

MecQP does not guarantee that:

- the website will always be available;
- all information will always be accurate or complete;
- every question paper will be authentic or error-free;
- every file will remain available;
- the website will always be free from errors or vulnerabilities; or
- the website will satisfy every user's particular requirements.

Nothing in these Terms excludes or limits a right or remedy that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited.

20. Limitation of Liability

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, the operator of MecQP will not be liable for indirect, incidental, special, consequential, or other losses arising from or relating to use of the website, including loss resulting from:

- temporary unavailability;
- inaccurate repository information;
- loss or corruption of data;
- reliance on question-paper content;
- third-party websites;
- downloaded files; or
- unauthorized activity by third parties.

Nothing in these Terms excludes liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited.

21. Indemnification

To the extent permitted by applicable law, a user who knowingly violates these Terms or knowingly submits material that infringes another person's rights may be responsible for losses, claims, or reasonable costs arising directly from that violation.

The scope and enforceability of this provision are subject to applicable law.

22. Changes to These Terms

MecQP may update these Terms from time to time to reflect:

- changes to the website;
- changes to its features;
- changes to its policies;
- changes in applicable law; or
- changes in its operating practices.

The updated version will be published on the website with a revised "Last Updated" date.

Continued use of MecQP after an updated version becomes effective constitutes acceptance of the updated Terms to the extent permitted by applicable law.

23. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

These Terms shall be governed by the laws of India, subject to applicable law.

Any dispute arising from or relating to MecQP shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the courts specified by the operator's legal counsel, subject to applicable law.

24. Severability

If any provision of these Terms is determined to be invalid, unlawful, or unenforceable, that provision shall be interpreted or modified to the minimum extent necessary where legally permissible, and the remaining provisions shall continue in effect.

25. Entire Agreement

These Terms, together with the MecQP Privacy Policy and any other policies expressly incorporated into them, constitute the terms governing use of MecQP, subject to applicable law.
